Towel Series*

Every year in Miami APF debuts stunning new beach towels designed by leading contemporary artists. This year we are thrilled to launch designs by John Currin and Laurie Simmons, in partnership with Kohler and Architectural

Digest. The towels will be installed poolside at the Delano South Beach all week long...Stop by! All proceeds support APF's mission to commission and produce public art projects.

Ugo Rondinone "Miami Mountain" at the Bass Museum

APF & the Nevada Museum of Art presented Ugo Rondinone's "Seven Magic Mountains" this past year in Las Vegas, and we were thrilled to hear that Ugo was sending a "Miami Mountain" to the Bass Museum. The 41-foot tall fluorescent sculpture will be a wonderful addition to the Miami landscape.

"Tide By Side" Processional Performance curated by Claire Tancons

To celebrate the opening of the Faena Forum, Claire Tancons has curated an artistic processional performance "Tide By Side" on November 27 on Collins Ave in the Faena District. The performance is inspired by the history of parades and carnivals in the Americas and the Caribbean, and will feature several contemporary artists and over 30 Miami-based cultural groups. The ambitious work is free to the public and will be truly captivating.

Yvette Mattern: The Global Rainbow

Originally done in 2012 in response to Hurricane Sandy, Yvette Mattern's New York installation "Global Rainbow: After the Storm" has been commissioned by Lionheart Capital for the Ritz-Carlton Residences in Miami Beach, and we couldn't be more excited to see this new iteration of the project. Mattern's large-scale laser beam installation can be seen within 25 miles, and will shine across the city from Monday, Nov 28 to Saturday, Dec 3.

Jose Parla at National YoungArts Foundation

I am always energized by Jose Parla's dynamic large-scale compositions. This year, Parla will create a site-specific installation for the spectacular Jewel Box space at the National YoungArts Foundation.

Ebony G. Patterson at UNTITLED Art Fair

After recently seeing one of Patterson's incredibly ornate hand-embellished tapestries, I couldn't stop thinking about them. This year Ebony is presenting work with Monique Meloche Gallery at UNTITLED Art Fair, and I am looking forward to experiencing her work again in person.
